

York County Astronomical Society
NEWS RELEASE

CONTACT: info@astroYork.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Planetarium Shows at York Learning Center

YORK, PA, November 14, 2024. . . The York County Astronomical Society,* celebrating 18 years offering planetarium programs to the public, is now offering Saturday afternoon programs for young children and families and Saturday evening for older family members at the York Learning Center Planetarium.

This month we are featuring a children's program, One World, One Sky: Big Bird's Adventure, and a new program, Mars: The Ultimate Voyage. For older family members, there is Forward! To the Moon, and Two Small Pieces of Glass.

Saturday, December 7, 2024 at:

2:00pm One World, One Sky

2:40pm StarWatch

3:20pm Mars: The Ultimate Voyage

7:00pm Forward! To the Moon

7:40pm StarWatch

8:20pm Two Small Pieces of Glass

The planetarium is located in the York Learning Center at 301 East 6th Avenue in York. Admission is $4.00 for adults, $3.00 for children and seniors. Admission to any second or third show is $1.00 each. Cash and most credit and debit cards are accepted. Private show reservations are available starting at $40 for up to 60 people. Our website is www.AstroYork.com.

*Formed in 1989, the non-profit York County Astronomical Society aims to promote interest, public education, and advancement of the science of astronomy. In addition to planetarium shows, the society presents regular public sky watches and astronomy classes. Tax-deductible donations are welcome to help us continue to offer our public programs.